BRYAN CONFIDENT THE WEST IS WON, FIGHTS FOR EAST

Democratic Nominee, Though He Does Not Allow Himself to Be Quoted, Believes He Will Sweep Indiana, Nebraska and Kansas.

William J. Bryan dashed through New York this morning in his race for the Presidency. He arrived from Rochester at the Grand Central Station at 10.30 o'clock, rushed along the platforms, jumped into a waiting automobile and drove at top speed to the West Twenty-third street ferry to catch the 11 o'clock Pennsylvania train for Wilmington, Del.

There was a welcoming, cheering crowd at the arriving station. Two Democratic National Committeemen—George V. Greene, of Rhode Island, and Willard Saulsbury, of North Carolina—with Vice-Chairman Hudspeeth, backed by a group of reporters, composed the reception committee.

Mr. Bryan, dressed in dark striped trousers, black coat and white shirt, smiled and bowed and shook a few hands as he was almost pulled along to the automobile. National Chairman Mack Gov. Jennings, of Florida, and a group of correspondents were in his immediate party. Tired but exuberant returning delegates from the Rochester convention poured out of other sleeping cars of the train.

Believes He Will Win. Mr. Bryan objects to giving offhand interviews. What he has to say he prefers to put in speeches or formal dictated statements. But here are Mr. Bryan's unquoted views of the situation, as gleaned exclusively from The Evening World:

He is elated over the prospects of Democratic triumph and feels almost certain that he will be elected. He is fighting on success as sweeping in the Middle West that victory can be counted without New York.

Indiana is assuredly in the Democratic column. Nebraska and Kansas are certain to give him their electoral votes. Ohio and Illinois are now the great debatable States, with Democratic prospects improving every day. The odds to-day are in Bryan's favor.

Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and North and South Dakota are doubtful States, although the odds are in favor of the Republicans at present.

New York is an unknown condition. It is too early yet to gather any definite view of the situation here or the real strength and weakness of the respective State tickets. Another fortnight will clear the perspective. Mr. Bryan regards Gov. Hughes as the strongest man the Republicans could have nominated.

Gratified by Olney Letter. Mr. Bryan said that he had not read the letter of Richard Olney, Secretary of State in the Cleveland cabinet, published in to-day's World, but was extremely gratified that Mr. Olney should think so well of his candidacy.

Mr. Taft says that the nomination of Mr. Hughes will not only help him in New York State, but in all States of the Union. What do you think of that? Mr. Bryan was asked. "Well," he replied, "I guess that he can talk about that better than I can. Mr. Taft is speaking for his party, of course, and I guess he wants to believe that, and what a man wants to believe is very easy to believe."

Mr. Bryan was then told that it was the prevailing opinion in this city that only the re-nomination of Gov. Hughes could save the Republican party in this State, and the candidate realized that he thought that that was merely a discussion, but added: "The people here know more about the situation than I do."

Mr. Bryan said that as a result of his talks with the leaders at the convention and coming down on the train, he felt very confident.

"Do you think that the Demo-

(Special to The Evening World.) BAIL PARK, PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 17.—The Pirates took the last game of the series from the Quakers this afternoon in a one-sided game by the score of 8 to 1. Moren, who has not been pitching in his regular turn was sent in to stem the Pirates rush toward first place and was effective until the sixth inning, when he exploded. Gibson, the first man up in the sixth, singled. Willis bunted a foul to Bransfield.

Thomas walked and Clarke followed with a single to center, filling the bases. Leach then pushed out a safety to center, scoring Gibson. Wagner singled, scoring Thomas and Clarke. Wagner sacrificed fly Leach scored the fourth run of the inning. This gave Pittsburg a lead which was too great to overcome. Wagner was too, killing several hits for the Quakers by his sensational holding and was also responsible for bringing in three of Pittsburg's runs.

Chicago started in the first and fell upon Mr. Tuckey for a single, a two-bagger, which netted them one run and the South Paws' banishment. Ferguson, who relieved Tuckey, did well for the remainder of the game, except in one inning, the sixth, when four hits and a gift clinched the game for the Cubs. The locals only succeeded in getting one man across the rubber when Hannifan in the seventh doubled, went to third on an out and scored on Moran's single.

Reulbach, although hit hard, was master of the situation in pinches. Zimmerman and Chance excelled for the visitors, while the hitting of Browne and the fielding of Moran were the features for the locals.

The Cubs leave on the Federal Express to-night for Philadelphia.

"Iron Man" McGinnity Does the Trick in Old-Time Fashion, and New York Players Back Him Up Like Champions.

BY BOZEMAN BULGER.

POLO GROUNDS, Sept. 17.—The wind up with St. Louis this afternoon was a lively affair. The fans came out to see the Giants on their march to the pennant, and the early practice was enhanced by the appearance of Rube Marquard, the $11,000 twirler, in a New York uniform. The big fellow looked every inch the star that he is. Marquard is taller than Matty, though a little bit more slender. He looks very much as Matty did when he first broke into the major league.

McGraw had all of his pitchers out on the practice firing line, but it looked as if he would select McGinnity on account of an extra lot of speed. Not having won a game for more than a week, the Cardinals laid out their big bats and got ready to give the probable champions one good lacing before they bid good-bye to New York for the season.

With this game under their belt, the Giants would be in excellent shape to face the Pirates to-morrow in the double header, and they went after it in their usual business-like manner.

First Inning. Shaw fled to Bridwell and Charles was thrown out by Bridwell. Osteen died on an easy grounder, which McGinnity and Tenney handled neatly. NO RUNS.

Tenney lifted a high fly to Shaw. Osteen's throw beat Herzog to the bag by inches. Bresnahan got a base on balls and stole second, but Donlin was thrown out by Raymond. NO RUNS.

Second Inning. Murray beat out a bunt and took second on Konetchy's sacrifice. McGinnity to Tenney. Murdock fled to Seymour. Morris fled to Donlin. NO RUNS.

Charles took a hot drive from Seymour and by a great throw nipped Cy at first. Morris made another great play in throwing out Devlin. McCormick struck out. NO RUNS.

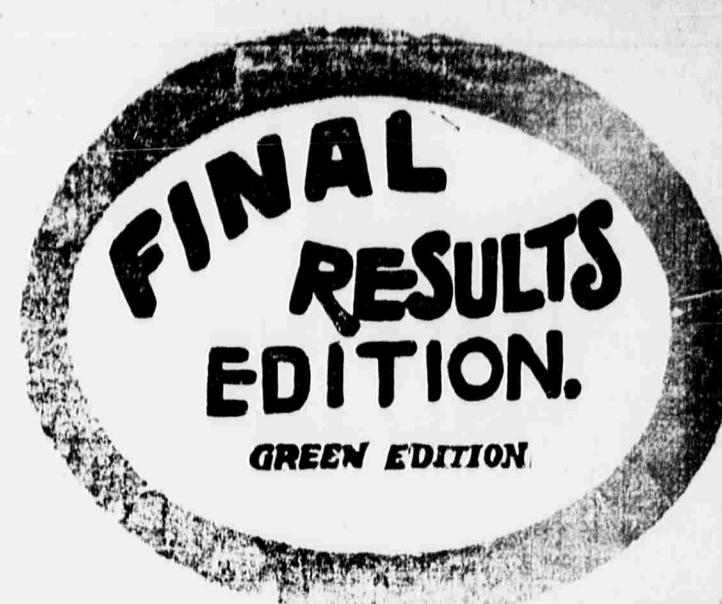

Third Inning. Bridwell had to hustle to throw out Moran, but did it. Raymond cracked a single into right and Shaw walked. Herzog made a spectacular stop of Charles and threw to Devlin. Moran singled, forcing out Shaw. Raymond taking third on the play. Osteen went out on a sacrifice bunt to Tenney. NO RUNS.

Bridwell fled to Shaw. McGinnity popped to Charles. Tenney beat out a slow one to first. Herzog walked. Bresnahan also walked, filling the bases. Donlin then worked Raymond for a base on balls and Tenney forced Herzog to take a throw off the bag when he started to score on a passed ball and could not get back before he was thrown out. Moran to Osteen. ONE RUN.

Fourth Inning. Murray singled to center, but was forced out by Koney's attempted sacrifice. McGinnity to Bridwell. Murdock singled to right, sending Koney to third. Morris singled to center, scoring Koney, but Murdock was out trying to reach second on Devlin's single to left. McCormick then sent the stands aglow by beating out a bunt and filling the bases. Osteen got Bridwell's grounder and threw Seymour out at the plate. Barry batted for McGinnity and drove a long fly to Shaw, which scored Devlin and sent McCormick to third. Bridwell stole second. Tenney beat out a slow one, which scored McCormick and sent Bridwell to third. Tenney and Bridwell attempted a double steal, but Bridwell was out at the plate. Moran to Charles to Moran. TWO RUNS.

Fifth Inning. Marquard was sent in to pitch and the fans gave him a rousing reception, but it was merely a blue to give Taylor a chance to warm up. Taylor then took the slab for New York. Raymond for the second time led off with a single and went to third on Shaw's fly. Moran singled to right. Bridwell got Charles' grounder and threw Raymond out at the plate. Herzog cracked Osteen's hot one out. Bridwell was late in reaching second and then dropped the ball, which filled the bases. Murray promptly batted a single into center, scoring both Shaw and Charles and sending Osteen to third. On the throw to third Murray took second. Koney bunted to Taylor, who threw Osteen out at the plate. Murdock lined out to Bridwell. TWO RUNS.

Herzog walked and Bresnahan singled to left. Raymond was taken out of the box and Higginbotham took his place. Both runners were advanced on a wild pitch. Charles got Donlin's rap to the plate and Bresnahan took third. Donlin stole second, went to third on Moran's hot throw while Bresnahan scored. Seymour was out to Koney and assisted. Devlin smashed a single to left and Donlin scored. Devlin was out stealing second. Moran to Morris. And

MOCK WEDDING TO AVOID TITLE, SAYS HELEN MALONEY

Testimony on Which Ceremony Unit-ing Her to Osborne Was Annulled, Reveals Plan to Wed Her to Foreigner.

SHE DISLIKED MAN PARENTS HAD PICKED OUT FOR HER.

Consented to Go Through With Ceremony With Osborne in the Hope That it Would Help Her Avoid Disagreeable Marriage.

Papers made public to-day, after Justice Gerard had made final the decree annulling the marriage of Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney, a Philadelphia millionaire and a Papal Marquis, to Arthur Herbert Osborne, show that one of her reasons for consenting to a ceremony with Osborne before a Justice of the Peace was that she feared her parents would take her to Europe and induce her to wed one of two men of title who were suitors for her hand.

Miss Maloney is now free to wed Samuel Clarkson, with whom she eloped to England, should she choose to do so.

One of the reasons why the application for her final decree was postponed was because the question has not yet been decided by the Papal Court in Rome as to whether an annulment of marriage granted by the civil courts will place Miss Maloney in the position of an unmarried woman and enable her to again marry without violation of the rules of the Roman Catholic Church.

Justice Gerard this afternoon ordered that the papers in the suit be made public. Justice McCall, who granted the interlocutory decree, had ordered them sealed. They have been pigeon-holed in the County Clerk's office for more than four months. Justice Gerard said he could see no reason why the usual rule in annulment cases should be changed in this instance. After signing the decree making the annulment final the papers were given to the reporters.

Miss Maloney's Complaint.

The complaint of Miss Maloney in the action set forth that on or about Dec. 28, 1905, the defendant, then a student of Princeton, took the plaintiff, then an infant of the age of nineteen, before William A. Boyd, a Justice of the Peace in Westchester County. The plaintiff and defendant were accompanied by a young woman, who was a friend and guest of the plaintiff. The plaintiff stated that she was twenty-one; that her father's name was "John Egan"; that her mother's name was "Mary Egan"; that her residence was in Pittsburg, Pa.; that her parents had come from Corkermouth, England, and that they were dead. The defendant and the young woman friend of the plaintiff gave their names respectively as "Herbert Osborne" and "Marion Graham."

The defendant then requested Justice Boyd to perform a ceremony of marriage between him and the plaintiff, giving their fictitious names, and he thereupon performed what purported to be a marriage ceremony, using the words: "I, the Justice of the Peace, do hereby join together in Holy Matrimony you, Helen Maloney, and Arthur Herbert Osborne, according to the rites and ceremonies of the Protestant Episcopal Church."

Justice Gerard said that he was satisfied that the ceremony was a mockery and that the marriage was null and void.
